

Bio-data

Prof. M. Vikram Reddy

I am Prof. M. Vikram Reddy, s senior professor of Ecology and Environmental sciences. Prof. Reddy received PhD in ecology from the North Eastern Hill University (Shilong) in 1980. He is a Professor of Ecology, and Environmental Sciences at Pondicherry University in India. He is a founder life member of Indian Society of Soil Biology and Ecology, Bangalore (India) and one of the editorial board members of Society's journal, "Journal of Soil Biology and Ecology". He is a life member of International Union of Soil Sciences (IUSS, The Netherlands). He was invited to the membership of American Academy of Advancement of Sciences (AAAS), Washington DC; (USA). He is a recipient of Fulbright Fellowship (USA) and awarded the prestigious Rockefeller Foundation Environmental Research Fellowship in International Agriculture (USA) and a fellow of Japan Society for Promotion of Science (JSPS), Tokyo, Japan. He is a Fellow of Andhra Pradesh Akademi of Sciences (Hyderabad, India). He has recently received Prof. E.P. Odum Gold Medal from "International Society for Ecological Communication" in recognition of his distinguished contributions in the field of Life Sciences. His areas of interests include MSW management and related technology, applied soil ecology, trace metals in soil and Municipal solid waste and environmental biotechnology. He has published about 200 research papers in peer reviewed journals, and Proceedings of Conferences, and book-chapters.; he has edited four books published by Westview press and Scientific publishers (USA). Guided 18 Ph. D students. He has visited several countries (UK, USA, East and West Germany, The Netherlands, Japan, China, Indonesia) for presenting the research findings and scientific discussions.